Special Appeal: At Mass, the chief Celebrant (Priest) leads the prayers some of which are meant to be communal – congregation is expected to join in. This is true especially at the Gloria, Creed, Acclamation of faith (After elevation of host and chalice), great Amen, and Our Father. For whatever reason, we have partly lost the habit of joining together especially in the Gloria, Creed, and great Amen. Could each of us help to revive this practice and so make the overall prayer ours—more communal and meaningful?
