Just a thought:

There is an old saying "If you haven't something good to say, then don't say anything." That's all it takes to put an end to tall tales and idle suppositions.

As humans we tend to forget that we have two ears but only one mouth and until you have walked in another shoes, don't be judgemental either. It is not always possible from the outside in to tell what is hidden beneath. It may be concealed in hurt, worry, or mistrust. If unkindness should come your way let your counter response be a positive one. It may just be catalyst needed to realign the mind-set of indifferent hungry individuals. Have faith, live in hope and practice charity. And never forget kindness whether little or large because KINDNESS never goes to waste.
