A NOTE FROM FR. JIM.....

During the week, our prayer meeting included the first episode of a six-part series called My Father's Father, focusing on God the Father. The programme explored how our relationship with our earthly father can deeply affect our ability to trust in God, whom Jesus reveals as Abba, Daddy, a loving and trustworthy Father. Startling statistics from America reveal that 17% of children conceived do not survive because of abortion, 39% are born into uncommitted family relationships, and over 25% experience the absence of a parent, mainly the father. Statistics also suggest that children spend only five minutes a day in meaningful conversation with their father, yet spend countless hours in front of screens. In such a world, it is understandable why many struggle to believe in a loving Father. In this weekend's gospel, the King, representing God the Father, invites everyone to a wedding feast, symbolising family bonds, intimacy, and abundant blessings. Yet the invitations are rejected. I genuinely believe that the greatest difficulty in faith is not loving God, but accepting God the Father's love for us. Through disappointments in love, we become hard-hearted and fearful of trusting again. God's love seems too good to be true. I encourage everyone to join this six-week programme and discover the path that leads to the Father's loving heart. Interested? Text your name and number to 087 108 1588. Episode One is available on the Glenflesk Parish Facebook page.
